AUTUMN BOUNTY

The cut out work on this goose egg is unusual, even whimsical. It sets a wonderful “stage” for the jeweler in heart. The photo shows front and back design of the egg you will complete by crystallizing it. This is the 1st presentation teaching the 4th egg in my four seasons series. (kits will be available for the other three). Loaded with images of fruits, berries, acorns, and oak leaves, it gives the perfect mood for fall. I will have everything you need in this class, including the brilliant array of Swarovski crystals (a great opportunity to make serious acquaintance with pointed back crystals), all you have to do is come “on board”. In class you will have the chance (if you choose to do so) to deviate from the set color scheme and compose your own version! I’ll be with you every step on the way. You will need to commit for the full day class to get a “feel good” result. I accept Credit cards and ask you to register within the deadline to allow me enough time for the intricate cutting work. Also to assure your place as the class attendance is limited. To find out more about my classes please check my website: Tinka Eggart

STAR PATTERN BEADED RHEA EGG WITH CLOCK

Rhea egg will be cut for the clock, and ready to work on. The egg will have an oval clock, surrounded by crystal chain and cording, the rest of the egg is beaded in a star pattern. We will embellish the egg with gold filigree findings on each side, top and bottom of clock and a crystal topper. The kit will also include the stand and corian base. You will not finish the beading in class but will learn the technique so you can finish it on your own. Please bring a hand towel to catch stray beads, a beading or paint tray, epoxy, your favorite white glue for beading and your RET's.

80 YEARS OF EXPERIENCE

Teachers Debbie Botts and Natalie Stedman will share their combined 80 years of knowledge of egg decorating during an exciting one day class for beginners and intermediates. You will work with each designer for a half day. Natalie will teach marking, hinging, cutting, painting and dioramas. There will be a least two goose eggs to work on using these aspects of egg design. It will be a stimulating day packed with lots of techniques.

Debbie will teach marking skills using templates and patterns to design eggs (will include a goose egg for this). To add to your decorating skills, 2 egg ornaments (one goose and one duck) will be started by gluing on paper prints and using seed beads and glitter for some trimmings. Supplies are included to finish the eggs. Instructions and patterns will be supplied for several eggs. Students will need to bring RETS, glues, mechanical pencil, eraser cloth tape measure, small wash cloth or hand towel and a Dremel if you have one.

WINGED FANTASY FAIRY NIGHT LIGHT

Kit includes everything you need to finish the project: The bodice of this gorgeous winged fairy has already been affixed to the emu egg which has paisley shaped openings cut around its circumference. The lights from the alternating color light box on which she turns will reflect inside the egg as well as the two walls if she is placed in a corner. In her hand she holds a miniature teapot made from a pearl teardrop. Her jewelry is made from micro no hole beads in blue, green and transparent green ab. Her natural blonde hair is made from a new product that looks and feels authentic. Students will need to bring RET'S scissors for trimming your doll's hair, Farbri-Tac, Gem-Tac glue, Dazzle-Tac glue or Crystalline Sheen glue (I will have some for sale). The hair might need some help to hold some of the curls in place so you will also need a needle and thread, though that part can be done at home. Also bring a salad bowl. You will need it in order to capture your beads as you are sprinkling them.

THE FLEDGELING

“A Little Charmer”. A rhea egg features a natural setting for the DiOggie (designer) small baby robin miniature. It sits in its own little hand made nest on a tree limb. You will compose the tree limb setting and learn how to make a very natural looking nest. This is a wild life type of diorama, very realistic, and will be an endearing addition to your collection. Austrian chain of 3 different colors is used along with the lovely diamond cut Morse Code 1.2mm chain. A splash of realistic foliage enhances the top surface of your creation.

These miniatures have been retired as the designer passed away so this will be a one of a kind creation for you. This scenic egg is easily changed to any other critter that fits the scene, if you wish to make more of the same kind. I will show you different ways of making this type of egg and the different things that can be done with this design.

CHANDELIER EGG ORNAMENT

This is a very pretty egg. The egg is covered with strands of beads, you will string in graduated lengths, giving the egg a chandelier look. A band of gold braid and rhinestone chain, near the top of the egg, finishes the design. This is a very easy and fun project to do. It is a little different from the usual design. The kit will contain an egg that is marked, cut, and painted. Ready to work on. It will also contain all the beads, needle, thread, braid and chain you will need to complete the egg. You should be able to complete this project in class. Bring RETS.
